Priscilla Orr writes, "I loved the workshop I took with Donna. I was a little apprehensive at first. But within minutes, I was comfortable. Donna and her home were warm and welcoming. Her expertise and organization had us writing, exploring and sharing in no time. Time flew, but I went home with a notebook of work having made connections in my work I hadn't imagined possible. And I also had made some new writer friends. I was so engaged in the process that it wasn't until the end of the day that I realized how much I had learned, and how much I had to take home with me. I highly recommend Donna's workshop. You'll be inspired."
